NO. 47

Former Resident Loses Texas Home.

The Miami Chief, published at Miami, Texas, has the following item that concerns a family who formerly resided in this county and who have many relatives here:

Monday night of this week the residence of Crusie Christopher burned to the ground with all contents. The cause of the fire is unknown. About 1 o'clock one of the boys upstairs was awakened by the noise and immediately awoke the other folks, and hardly had the boys come down before the roof fell in. The whole family barely escaped the flames and out of fourteen occupants not one of them saved their shoes or hats and only one little girl saved her dress.

No insurance was carried on the building. The family will for the present occupy another house on the ranch. However, Mr. Christopher states that he will build a new house in the near future.

Ladies' Aid Society.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church had a very pleasant meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. O'Rear. Refreshments were served and a delightful social hour was enjoyed. The society then adjourned to meet the next time with Mrs. J. B. Eaton Nov. 25. It is hoped that all members will be present on this date.

Called to See Sick Daughter.

Mr. Day Daniel left Wednesday for Jamescourt, Mo., where his daughter, Mrs. Lucy Moore, is seriously ill. Particulars of her illness could not be learned, Mr. Daniel having received a telegram saying that she was dangerously ill and to come at once. Mrs. Moore had intended to visit her father here last week, but was unable to come.

A new post office is to be established in the county at South Fork, and Mr. C. B. Morton has been appointed postmaster. The new office, which has been named Cida, is three miles from Bowen, and will be a great convenience to many people of that section.

Lexington, Winchester, and other cities in the Bluegrass, have organized societies to help the Belgian children who are the largest sufferers in the present terrible war being waged throughout Europe. A large fund is being raised to buy the necessary food and clothing for them.

Mr. C. W. Duncan left last week for Charleston, W. Va., where he has accepted a position in a railroad office. Mr. Duncan was for some years station agent at White Sulphur Springs, near Charleston, and after coming to Kentucky, was for some time a agent at L. & E. Junction.

Change in Size of The Times.

This week we bring The Times back to its original size of five columns. This is done in response to the solicitations of a large number of our subscribers who said that they preferred the old size to the larger sheet. In order to continue printing the increased amount of news and advertising which we have been carrying, it will be necessary to run more pages, and this week we have six pages, with the possibility of having eight in the near future.

Good Report of Clay City Bank.

Attention is called to the half page advertisement of the Clay City National Bank in this issue. This bank is one of the strongest in the state as their regular reports show. These reports as published in The Times every few weeks, are not picked by the bank officials when their deposits would make the best showing, but are selected by the Comptroller of the Currency. On the occasion of the last report of the local bank, the deposits had increased several thousand dollars in the three days succeeding the report, but this increase did not show in the report, in spite of which it was one of the best reports published by any bank in the state.

Hunting Season Opened Sunday.

The hunting season opened Sunday, and early Monday morning a large number of local nimrods were out trying to get a shot at the "early bird", which, according to all accounts, proved rather elusive, as the majority of the hunters returned with slim game bags. Birds are scarce yet, although hunters claim that there are plenty of them in the county, and good sport is being furnished for those who have a good dog and gun. A large number of rabbits have also been brought in, and they appear to be plentiful.

New Stockyards For Montgomery.

An effort is being made in Mt. Sterling to organize a company to build pens and open a stock yard at Comargo, about five miles from Mt. Sterling, in Montgomery county. Comargo is on the direct road to Mt. Sterling from the mountains and sales would be held for three days before the Montgomery court days, and it is believed that a large amount of stock would be offered there instead of being taken on to the court day sales.

Turkeys went up a cent or two a pound last week as buyers found that they went not coming in fast enough to make shipments. The continued mild weather will have a bad effect on the prices however.

Candidates Announce for Race for Governor.

Already the politically ambitious are preparing for business for next year, and announcements are now being made by those who intend to seek for honors in Kentucky at the primary in August 1915. Lieutenant-Governor E. J. McDermott, of Louisville, has already announced that he will be a candidate for Governor, and several others are expected to announce at once, among them being State Auditor Bosworth, Attorney General Garnett, Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman, and H. V. McChesney.

It is also expected that Congressman A. O. Stanley will enter the race, although he has made no official announcement, other than to state that he has been petitioned by over ten thousand voters of the state to make the race. There was some talk of Senator Camden making the race, but it is not thought that he will, as he cares little for the political honors, and was satisfied with being elected to the short term in the Senate. Judge J. H. Hazelrigg, who is a strong opponent of both prohibition and equal suffrage, has also been mentioned, as well as Judge John F. Hager and Rufus Van Sant. If all these nine men enter the race for the Democratic nomination, it will be an interesting fight. In this county Lieutenant Governor McDermott has a strong following, and if Senator Camden decided to make the race he would undoubtedly poll many votes, but it is hardly likely that he will enter.

Probably the most popular candidate with the voters here would be Congressman Stanley, and it is almost assured that he would receive a big majority.

Child Dies After Short Illness.

Annie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frazier, died Tuesday night after a few days illness with bronchial pneumonia. The child was apparently quite well on Sunday, and her sudden death was a great shock to the parents, who have the sympathy of their many friends in their trouble.

New Circuit Clerk for Lee.

Judge Hugh Riddell, who opened Circuit Court at Beattyville this week, on Tuesday appointed Charles B. Burke as Circuit Clerk to fill out the unexpired term of Geo. W. Cann, who died a few days ago.

Crow-Chaney.

Just before we go to press we learn of the marriage of Lennie Crow this morning to a Miss Cheney, of McCormick. We were unable to learn any of the particulars. Mr. Crow is the popular depot agent at Stanton, and is well-known in this city, having formerly been assistant railroad agent at this place. The Times joins in extending hearty congratulations.

STANTON.

Judge J. H. Hardwick, of Winchester, was here during Circuit Court.

Hon. Kelly Kash, of Jackson, was here during Court in the interest of a client.

Mr. Banford White, of Irvine, was here this week in the interest of his land suit.

Mrs. Carrie Skidmore was very sick last week from over-lifting and rupturing a lining of the stomach.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sewell, of Jackson, were visiting at the home of Wm. Hardwick over Sunday.

Mr. Dave Lucas, of Lee county, moved his family into the house he bought of Fred Blackburn this week.

Miss Katie Jackson returned home last week after a five weeks visit with friends in many parts of the state.

Mrs. Bettie Hardwick and little grandson, Jack, who has been visiting his grandmother, left today for Winchester where Mrs. Hardwick will visit for a while.

Mr. A. L. Collins will move his family to their farm in Madison county Monday of this coming week. A new man will take his place as depot agent.

Our former editor of the Clay City Times, Mr. J. E. Burgher was here attending Circuit Court and mingling among his many friends.

Mrs. Mollie Crawford and little daughter, Ollie Martel, who have been visiting with the home folks for several days, returned to their home in Jackson Tuesday of this week.

A Thanksgiving entertainment will be given at the Morris creek school house by the school Tuesday night, Nov. 24. This entertainment will consist of monologues, dialogues, plays, etc. Every body come. It will be well worth your hearing.

Circuit Court opened up Monday with Judge J. M. Benton presiding. He gave a very vigorous instruction to the grand jury on the usual violations of the law. There is a light docket on hands and probably will not hold long. A large crowd from all over the county came in and it would take too much space to mention all their names and where they are from.

Mr. Joe Willoughby surprised his many friends here by slipping off to Richmond last Thursday, Nov. 12th and bringing him home a beautiful young bride. She was Miss Rhoda Henderson, daughter of Mr. Frank Henderson, of Richmond. Rev. L. F. Martin went with Joe and helped him capture the prize. They are now to be found at Filson where they are receiving the congratulations of their many friends.

Judge Shackelford, of Richmond, was here attending Court. He is mingling among his friends with a view of running for Circuit Judge at the next election. The writer does not know much about Mr. Shackelford but we do not see any need of changing Circuit Judge at this time. Judge Benton is considered one of the best Circuit Judges in the state of Kentucky and has won an enviable reputation as Judge of this District. The leading men of Kentucky are demanding of him that he announce himself for Governor, but he feels that he can render to this district a real service yet, that of putting down vote buying and selling. We do not know what Mr. Shackelford would do as Circuit Judge but we have tried Judge Benton and we have found him true. You can search the records of the Court of Appeals and you will seldom find where Judge Benton's decisions have been reversed. Today his decisions are recognized as correct. The writer has nothing to say against Mr. Shackelford. He seems like a fine man but we believe that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

A large quantity of fruit trees were shipped here this past week for the different persons who had ordered them. Many came and got their trees but a number of the others have not come and it looks as if they did not intend to take them. This is a favorite trick of some people and it is one of the lowest down tricks that there is. The writer looked over the names of those who have not taken their trees and he was surprised that they were so low down as to do such a thing. Of course some will still come and get their trees but there are many who had no intentions of taking them when they ordered them. Had the fruit tree agent known them as well as they are known here he would not have taken their order without his pay in advance. One of the agents has over $150 worth of trees left on his hands due to these people refusing to come after their trees. Some have been delayed in getting their trees and this article has no reference to them but only to the one who intended to defraud when he gave the order.

Any one desiring to get some good trees cheap had better come in at once as the agent will sell them at reduced rates rather than take them back to the nursery. The first who come can get first choice.

Federal Reserve Starts Business.

The Federal Reserve Banking System has gone into effect, and the result is the turning loose of four hundred millions of dollars from the National Treasury. This should help the financial condition of the country some, and maybe some of our subscribers who have not yet paid up their subscriptions will now be able to make the raise.

The Clay City National Bank, being a "live wire", is, of course, a member of the new system, and Powell county will benefit by their progressiveness.

The Best Weekly in this Section.

M. P. O'MARA,
OWNER AND PUBLISHER.

Entered as second-class mail matter at the Post Office at Clay City, Ky., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

A HOME-MADE PAPER.

THURSDAY, NOV. 19, 1914

The two and a half cent railroad bill has been declared unconstitutional because of the fact that the enacting clause, which is essential to make any law effective, was omitted from it, and the railroads have decided to put the rate back to the old one of three cents. That a body of men such as the General Assembly should devote so much time to the passage of a law only to have it nullified by a palpable omission of this kind, which should be spotted at once by any qualified lawyer, is beyond understanding. We can recall several similar cases, however, when it was to the advantage of various large corporations to have the law made ineffective, after being passed by the House. Citizens of Clay City can also recall one instance of where the omission of the enacting clause to a city ordinance, saved the city $900 in cash on the building of a bridge. Strictly speaking it was not the omission of the enacting clause, but the substitution of one called for in the passage of ordinances for second-class cities, that was responsible for the saving. As the ordinance in question was drawn up by the L. & N. lawyers, and the error was theirs, it is reasonable to suppose that they may have learned the value of an enacting clause from the city council here, as their error in that instance cost the railroad $900.

Some of the Republican papers are crowing over the showing made by their party in the recent election, but most of us cannot see why they should be pleased with the result. It must be remembered that at the last general election the Democrats were fighting against two parties, the Republicans and the Progressives, and only managed to beat them by the fact that the Republican party was split to ribbons by the action of Roosevelt.

This time, as the returns show, the Progressives were eliminated, and, in spite of the fact that the Republican party was again united, they were decisively beaten. Had the recent election been a Presidential one, the electoral vote would have shown a plurality for the Democrats of from 55 to 60, so where would the Republicans have anything to be joyful over.

The cause of equal rights received a severe setback in the recent election, particularly in Ohio, where the women had been carrying on a very strong campaign, and where it was confidently expected by their leaders that they would have a large majority. The women put up some very strong arguments as to why they should have the ballot, but the majority of the male sex can not see why they want it, many of them contending that a woman's place is in the home, where she can do more good by teaching her children how to live properly than she can by marking a ballot and trying to legitimate them into doing what they would freely and cheerfully have done had they been brought up right, and receive the proper home training.

The Frankfort State Journal says:

The cost of fencing is a considerable item to the average Kentucky farmer and evidently many farmers are getting tired of the burden. At every succeeding election more counties and precincts are voting on the no-fence law. The old argument that with a no-fence law the farmer will only have to fence against his own stock, whereas now he has to fence against everybody's is undoubtedly making an impression. It contains much truth. Really there is too much fencing on the average farm.

The Bowling Green Messenger, in discussing the failure of the General Assembly to have the enacting clause on the two and a half cent fare bill, says, in part:

"The Louisville & Nashville railroad, be it known, of its own motion has reduced passenger fares to the 2½ cent rate, not because of the law, but because they deemed it best. Other roads have not and the Legislature has made the passenger powerless to secure relief."

All over the country the campaign against illiteracy is being waged with good effect, and it will be only a matter of a short time until an illiterate will be a curiosity. Any who had not the opportunity in their youth to learn to read and write, are taking advantage of the opportunity being offered now. In this county several moonlight schools have been started and are meeting with success.

We are in receipt of several items which came through the mails to us, but as the writers omitted to sign their names, we are compelled to leave them out. Always remember to sign your name to any communication. It will not be published unless you desire it, but we must know where our items come from for our own protection.

The Paris Democrat is now being issued three times a week, instead of twice a week, as formerly, and it is expected that the Bourbon News will be changed into a daily.

Buys Tie Company Property.

Mr. B. M. McPherson, of Winchester, acting for B. Johnson & Son, tie contractors of Richmond, Ind., has purchased the property of the Ohio Valley Tie Co., of Athol, in Breathitt County, the price paid being $5,000. The Ohio concern has not been doing any business of a notable sort for some time, and the Johnson company will continue to increase their operations in that section.

Next Year's Election.

No sooner is one election over in Kentucky than another campaign is commenced, and preparations are being made now by candidates for office next year. At the primary in August next, both Democrats and Republicans will nominate candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, Attorney General, Treasurer, Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics and Superintendent of Public Instruction. Judges of the Court of Appeals in the First and Sixth Districts, three Railroad Commissioners, besides Circuit Judges and Commonwealth's Attorneys in each of the thirty-five Judicial Districts, State Senators in the nineteen odd numbered districts and 100 Representatives and a Circuit Clerk in each county. The fact that the Circuit Court officials are to be chosen adds to the interest and importance of next year's election.

Whole State Quarantined.

Owing to the outbreak of foot and mouth disease which caused the closing of the stock yards all over the country, and resulted in the destruction of many herds of valuable cattle which were in Chicago at the annual show, the whole State of Kentucky was placed in quarantine, and shipment of all live stock was prohibited. These drastic measures were necessary in order to prevent the spread of the disease which is very contagious. The passage of hunting dogs from one state to another was also forbidden. In Powell and adjoining counties, no trace was found of the disease, but stock sales were declared off, and all shipments of cattle were stopped. There was no sale at Mt. Sterling Monday, although some drovers who did not know of the quarantine, started there with cattle, and some were sold before reaching the city.

It is expected that the quarant ine will be lifted within a few days and business will be resumed at the stock yards. Stock inspectors all over the country have been very active, and every suspected case has been thoroughly investigated, and where the disease was found, steps were at once taken to destroy the suspected animals. The Federal Government took an active interest in the epidemic, and prompt action by the officials was responsible for the small loss.

To Fight White Plague.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has secured from 2,582 clergymen, representing 1,603,000 communicants, information regarding the number of deaths from tuberculosis among their parishioners during the year ending August 31st and the number of living cases in their parishes.

3,794 deaths and 4,254 living cases were reported; an average of nearly three cases of consumption cared for by each congregation that reported. As the average size of the congregation is 56, evidently there is one case of tuberculosis developing for every 20 church members in the United States.

Because so much relief is demanded for consumptives from the churches the National Association, the Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission, and the local associations laboring for the public health all over the State are urging all ministers to observe Tuberculosis Day the week of November 29th.

Knew All About It.

"How is the law made?" asked the instructor in United States history. "Oh," replied the maiden, cheerfully, "the senate has to ratify it; and then the president has to veto it; and then the house of representatives has to"—she hesitated for a moment, and knit her pretty forehead. "Oh, yes! I remember now," she said. "The house of representatives has to adjourn until the next session!" — Youth's Companion.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Twenty-one Clay City people were counted on the streets of Winchester at one time on Saturday.

The pay car passed through here on Thursday morning, and gladdened the hearts of the railroad men.

In Winchester all dogs running at large without muzzles are being shot by the police, owing to an outbreak of rabies.

Charlie Highley has just completed the painting of the residences of Mrs. Mary Newkirk and Doc Phillips in Mechanicsville.

The first snow of the season is falling as we go to press, and from the volume of it we would judge that winter is now here in earnest.

In Muhlenberg county, "possum hunters," as they are called, lynched a man named Allen, and $400 reward has been offered for their conviction.

A fire starting in the home of Bert Masters, at Irvine, a few days ago, destroyed three dwellings and a store, causing a loss of about $18,000.

Goldie, the little daughter of J. E. Knox, of South Fork, died Wednesday after a short illness with whooping cough. Several other children in that neighborhood are suffering from the same complaint.

Lennie Crow, who has been in the dispatcher's office at Stanton for some time past, has been promoted to agent at Stanton, and has assumed his new duties. He will replace former agent A. L. Collins, who resigned to farm.

Frank B. Russell, President of the Clay City National Bank, George Laub of Louisville, and James B. Hall, of Lexington, vice-President of the bank, were among those who enjoyed the hunting in Powell county for a few days this week.

Several entries have been made in the corn contest at the Times office, and next week we will publish a list of the names, our columns being too crowded this week. Mr. Whitt, of the Clay City National Bank, also has a good show at the bank.

J. A. Bowen, of Slade, was in town Saturday, taking orders for some of his good coal, which he will ship in shortly. Some time ago Mr. Bowen was compelled to stop shipping coal owing to the high freight rates charged, but he will now try it again.

The Irvine Commercial Club, as well as the newspapers there, have tendered a warm invitation to the editors of mountain papers to hold their reorganization meeting at that place, and it is quite likely that the committee will eventually decide on Irvine.

Pompeii school house was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, the cause being a defective flue, which started a fire in the ceiling and roof. The teacher, Richard Crowe, will continue the school in a nearby building for the balance of the term.

It is being rumored around town that one of our most popular young ladies and a prominent young man are about to take the plunge into the sea of married life. Neither party could be seen before we went to press, to verify the report, but their actions are very suspicious.

The initial number of the new Hazard paper, "The Mountain Star," has been issued, and is a very creditable little sheet. It is being published by the Hazard Baptist Institute, and its object is to advertise the Institute, and also serve the best interests of the community, and the people of the mountains.

Wm Morton, of Bowen, called on The Times a few days ago, and made the editor think life was worth living by renewing his subscription for another two years. His son, C. B. Morton, also called and renewed for W. T. Burch, of South Fork. The Morton family have taken The Times ever since the first issue was published, and would not be without it. Sam Wells, of Vaughn's Mill, was another who called at the office and advanced the date on The Times book by another year.
